Cop accused of rape in Harlow

A POLICE officer arrested a vulnerable young woman before raping her at a house in Harlow, a court heard this week.

Adesoji Afolabi (30) is alleged to have carried out the attack after visiting the woman at her father's home, supposedly to check on her welfare.

Andrew Jackson, prosecuting at Chelmsford Crown Court, told the jury: "When this defendant raped and sexually assaulted a 22-year-old woman who was an alcoholic and mentally vulnerable he was a police constable with the Hertfordshire Constabulary."

The court was told Afolabi - who lives in Luton and denies charges of rape and assault by penetration - had arrested the woman in South Mimms and volunteered to take her home.

Mr Jackson said the woman had been diagnosed with borderline personality disorder, alcoholism and bulimia nervosa. On July 4 last year she was so drunk she had to be admitted to a hospital A&E department at Watford but was discharged the following day.

"She went to her mother's address in South Mimms and there was a bit of a scene," said Mr Jackson. "She broke some windows and the defendant, who was on duty, attended and arrested her, taking her to Hatfield Police Station."

Once there it was decided Afolabi should keep her under observation. But the prosecution alleged he took the opportunity to flirt with her and get her mobile number.

Mr Jackson continued: "He decided to have a sexual encounter with her whether she wanted it or not. Later that evening he and a colleague took her to her father's home in Harlow."

Returning to Hatfield, the defendant completed his shift and started sending the woman text messages. The next day he texted her suggesting he might visit later that day, the court heard.

"She agreed to him coming to Harlow," said Mr Jackson. "He drove to Harlow from his home in Hertfordshire."

When her father returned from work at lunchtime, Afolabi was there and told him he was a policeman. He showed his warrant card and said he was checking on her welfare.

However, Mr Jackson said that when the father returned to work Afolabi attacked her. "He tried to kiss her and she said she didn't want it before he placed his arms around her and held her down.

"He then unbuttoned his trousers and pulled them down to carry out the rape."

Mr Jackson said Afolabi then drove back to Hertfordshire after the woman told him to leave. She later told her father's partner what had happened.

When Afolabi was arrested he told police he'd been drinking with her and she had "instigated the sexual activity."

He claimed she asked to have full sexual intercourse but he had decided not to do so because he was pressed for time, having to get back to work.

The case continues.

Fifth Green Flag for Parndon Wood

PARNOND WOOD Nature Reserve has been recognised as one of the best kept green spaces in the country after being awarded Green Flag status for the fifth consecutive year.

The facility, which is run by Harlow Council and volunteers from local charity ECCO, is one of 1,447 parks and green spaces across the UK to receive the award from environmental charity Keep Britain Tidy.

Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson said: "We are absolutely delighted that Parndon Wood Nature Reserve has received a Green Flag Award for the fifth year running. This award recognises and highlights that people in Harlow are benefitting from a green space of the very highest quality."

"A Green Flag is seen as the gold standard for public spaces that are welcoming, safe and well maintained. The award is testament to the hard work of council officers and the many local volunteers who help maintain the reserve to this standard."

Police seek sex attack witnesses

POLICE are renewing their appeal for information following a series of indecent assaults against young women in Harlow.

Two sexual assaults in Kiln Lane, Church Langley were originally reported to police - the first on July 15 at 12.30pm and the second just hours later at 8.30pm. On both occasions the victims, aged 18 and 23, said a young man had run up behind them and grabbed their breasts.

Since the incidents were reported police have linked a similar assault in Kingsdon Lane on July 10 at 9.30pm where a young man ran up behind a 20-year-old woman and groped her bottom.

And a fourth woman, aged 20, told police a boy had run up to her as she had been walking along Fullers Mead, Church Langley at 7pm on July 14 and touched her breasts.

A 16-year-old from Harlow was arrested on Kiln Lane on July 17 on suspicion of committing sexual assault. He has since been released on police bail until August 7 pending further enquiries.

Kier staff to strike over pay dispute?

STAFF at property maintenance firm Kier Harlow are poised to go on strike following a bitter row with management over changes to the way they are paid.

Union leaders representing employees say they fear further reviews of wages and conditions could be in the pipeline after the firm pushed back workers' pay dates from the 15th to the 28th of each month.

The company, based at Mead Industrial Park on River Way, employs more than 400 people locally and is responsible for the repair and maintenance of all Harlow Council-owned homes as well as landscaping, hedge-trimming and rubbish clearance across the town. Its contract with Harlow Council is worth around £20m a year.

CAN KIER AFFORD TO RISK STRIKE ACTION?

www.harlowstar.co.uk

Steve Murphy, general secretary of UCATT, said: "Kier has failed to enter into meaningful negotiation with UCATT.

"The company's decision to impose this change without agreement means members now believe that undertaking industrial action is unfortunately their only option."

UCATT claims the results of a consultative ballot showed its members were supportive of industrial action.

Mr Murphy added: "[Kier] need to rescind their decision to impose a change in the pay date and then get back round the table and negotiate."

But Kier said the move was designed to bring the site into line with the rest of the business.

A spokesman told the Star: "The change is being made to align the monthly payroll process across the entire enlarged group and mirrors the procedure adopted by most comparable employers.

"We are committed to continuing to work with and consult the unions."

READERSLETTERS

Allotment site encroaches on land which is open to all SIR, I live in Five Acres and have watched with interest over the past few weeks as the community allotment has grown, initially from a small patch of land which was fenced off to a much larger stretch (Star, July 18).

Initially I thought it was a youth project approved, and perhaps funded, by Harlow Council. However, as the 'reclaimed' land became bigger and for a good few weeks a barbecue was placed close to the fenced-off area - on the opposite side of what is in fact clearly marked as a public footpath - my view and those of some of my neighbours was that it was an encroachment on land which is supposed to be for all, not just for those using the space.

I accept that the area to the side of the footpath was overgrown but it was certainly not "covered with dog poo", although here, as in the rest of the town, there are some thoughtless dog owners who do not clean up after their pets. I have seen a number of them with the tell-tale plastic bags when walking their pooches.

Ms Lewis, how can you reclaim something that did not belong to you in the first place and what right do you think you have to do this? It is also clear that you are aware that a licence from the council would be necessary. With this in mind, why did you not obtain council permission and the necessary licence before starting to dig and fence off public land?

The Star report states that initially it was just Ms Lewis and her children before other people joined it. It is unclear from that how this could possibly have initially been intended to be a community venture; rather it reads as though she decided to do this and others have joined in, possibly making it in part at least a community venture by default.

I do think the idea of a community allotment could be a good idea. However, without proper permission and without a clear invitation to all members of the community, I can't help wondering if it is a bit of a misnomer?

I accept that there are a number of people in the town who are struggling financially and who would benefit from free food from the allotment. Who is this expected to help and how should they go about accessing the food?

Finally, I cannot help thinking that the timing of the approach to the press and the way it was pitched comes across as a cynical attempt to put pressure on Harlow Council to agree that it can remain and to grant a licence when in fact this venture has been started on public land without permission.

I have the greatest respect for anyone who genuinely works for the community and if Ms Lewis' aims are really as stated then I have respect for those.

However, my respect would be much greater and much more deserved had

Much is promised at forums but then little is delivered

SIR, It is always an interesting educational exercise to attend the tenant forums arranged and supported by Harlow Council, mainly because they always appear to have more council officers attending than tenants.

The latest forum had even more of an imbalance because the contractors working with the council on the decent homes project were also in attendance. The question is this: why should there be such an imbalance given that the issue under discussion was the upgrade of tenants' council homes?

The most logical reason for the lack of tenants attending the forum was that they did not know it was on. Another view would be that tenants simply do not care about this important issue, which would be surprising given that it directly affects their living standards and wellbeing.

However, having attended such events for some 25 years I have concluded that the fundamental reason for tenants not attending these forums is a belief that councillors, council officers and its contractors always promise much but deliver little. In short, the contractors believe that because the council signs the cheques they must keep them sweet and ignore the tenants who actually pay the bills. The result is, sadly, that the contractors promise Canary Wharf but only deliver a one-bed flat.

However, those tenants who did attend the forum were assured that the planned replacement work for bathrooms, kitchens and boilers would be completed within two years and to rigorous decent homes standards. May I respectfully suggest to the council that if this assurance is not delivered within this set timeframe then the contractors be surcharged and tenants compensated. That approach must be fair given that the council already imposes such surcharges and penalties on its own tenants.

Finally, let's hope that despite my reservations on the tight deadlines for improving council homes, all council properties achieve the decent homes standards and when they do the council does not then decide to formally institute another housing options appraisal. It didn't work last time despite political interference and because of the obvious financial outlay this time it would be political suicide to attempt to sell all of its housing stock again.

Affiliated unions an integral part of the Labour Party

SIR, Last week the Star asked readers if they thought trade unions have too much influence over the Labour Party. The simple answer is no.

If anything they have too little influence, but posing the question in that way is misleading. The affiliated trade unions are not outside bodies but an integral part of the Labour Party.

When the Labour Representation Committee was founded in 1900 - becoming the Labour Party in 1906 - it was set up as a federal body, a coalition of existing organisations including, for example, the Independent Labour Party and the Fabian Society as well as a number of trade unions.

The introduction of individual membership in 1919 complicated the situation and there is, therefore, an ongoing debate about the relative share of voting power within the party. But the principle remains - the trade unions represent the collective interests of their members as determined by their own democratic policy-making procedures, and have the absolute right to campaign for their adoption by the Labour Party generally.

It should also be noted that the Unite union alone has many more members than all the individual members of all the political parties combined. Of course it would be good if more people were politically active in all parties, but what voluntary organisation does not rely on the dedicated few to do the work?

Another common misunderstanding relates to the unions' political funds. These exist only because anti-trade union laws prevent them from using their general funds for "political" purposes, unlike private companies and their directors. In fact, the unions had to take political action (including setting up the Labour Party) just to establish their right to exist and represent their members in the workplace. The use of these funds is entirely within the control of the unions and how much, if any, goes to the Labour Party is a matter for each union to decide. Unions which are not affiliated still have political funds.

Finally, to question the selection process for Suzy Stride as prospective parliamentary candidate is ludicrous. Of course she is a member of a trade union, as all Labour Party members should be if possible. So were all the other shortlisted candidates. The shortlisting process was meticulous and she was selected by a one-member one-vote ballot of all Harlow Labour Party members.

Voters in Harlow are not exactly spoiled for choice

SIR, Len McCluskey, the general secretary of the Unite union, talks of getting 100 MPs that share his values and yet it endorses Suzy Stride.

Suzy seems to be a nice person and this isn't an attack on her, but she is Cambridge educated and worked for a baroness in the House of Lords. This is the general description of a career politician (more Tory than Labour in this case), not a working class representative of the people of Harlow.

When she was selected there was a number of letters in the Star asking why we couldn't get a candidate from Harlow. Let's face it, at least half of our Labour councillors are union members so couldn't one of them stand?

I want to be represented by a person like me who will stand up for me. I was a truck driver, warehouse worker and now I run a transport charity. I put myself through university, bought my own home and have children who have taught me real patience and what is truly important.

The Tories are out of touch and the Liberal Democrats are all but gone. Voters in Harlow are definitely not spoiled for choice.

Why you will be seeing a little less of your MP

HE has tackled some of the UK's biggest political heavyweights head on in the House of Commons and is certainly no stranger to voicing his opinions on some of the weightier issues of the moment through the pages of the Star. But this month Harlow MP Robert Halton is taking on his fiercest opponent yet as he fights the flab to raise money for Harlow Community Chest.

The Tory backbencher - who has already lost 12lbs since starting a sponsored diet four weeks ago - hopes to lose two stone after being told by his GP to shed the pounds in a bid to improve the condition of his legs.

Mr Halton - who tipped the scales at 14st 12lbs at the start of his three-month challenge - said this week: "I thought the best way to lose weight was to do something for a charity, because it then keeps the pressure on me to lose weight."

"I'm delighted to have lost 12lbs since I started. I haven't starved - I've eaten lots of fish but had no alcohol, no chocolate, no sweets and cut the carbs."

He added: "Harlow Community Chest is an amazing charity which was set up in 1967 and has helped many hundreds of people in need since.

"I hope to raise £1,000 to support this incredible charity, which is run entirely by volunteers."

Town postbox will keep its golden glow

A POSTBOX in Harlow that was painted gold to mark cyclist Laura Trott's medal-winning success at last year's Olympic Games is to remain as a permanent reminder of her achievements.

Miss Trott, who was born at Princess Alexandra Hospital but lives in Cheshunt, won two golds at the London 2012 Games. The postbox at Stone Cross was repainted last summer to mark her success.

However, the track cyclist took to Twitter to complain that Royal Mail had mixed up her hometown with her place of birth and asked for her success to be commemorated in Cheshunt instead.

But despite admitting its mistake, Royal Mail has now announced Harlow's gold postbox will remain as permanent fixture in the town - and has even installed a commemorative plaque as a permanent reminder of the town's link to the Olympic Games.

Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson said: "Last year I backed the 'keep Harlow golden' campaign so it is great news that the golden postbox is here to stay."

"The gold postbox will always have a place in Harlow and for Laura it means she has two in her honour!"

"Let's also not forget that thousands of residents witnessed the Olympic Flame coming to Harlow last year."

"The gold postbox is a great way for Harlow to remember when Olympic fever hit the country."

Alcoholic jailed for setting fire to council flat

A TENANT who started a fire which caused £50,000 worth of damage to his council flat has been jailed for arson.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that Roger Wilkinson (53) started the blaze at his address in Spencers Croft with a cigarette on January 22 this year.

Wilkinson, who was described in court as a paranoid alcoholic who suffers from hallucinations, pleaded guilty to arson and reckless endangerment of life. He was jailed for 21 months.

The court was told that although he had started the fire, Wilkinson had claimed a group of men who were harassing him for money had thrown a petrol bomb into his lounge.

However, fire experts found that the cause of the blaze was a cigarette. No petrol or other accelerant was used.

Harlow Council was left with a £50,000 bill to make the first-floor flat inhabitable again. It needed a new kitchen, bathroom, ceiling, windows, doors and rewiring.

The court was told that the defendant he has now been barred from all council accommodation until his alcoholism is stabilised. He has spent the past six months in custody waiting for his case to be heard.

Prosecutor Nneka Akudolu said Wilkinson moved into the block in March 2008 and there had been "issues" ever since.

At around 7pm on the day of the fire the defendant twice called police about a group of males standing outside asking for money, the prosecutor told the court.

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PC Stephen Bolingbroke arrived at Wilkinson's flat at 7.22pm. He could hear a smoke alarm and smelled what he thought was burnt toast.

"But looking in the lounge he saw a glow from a cardboard box and realised there were flames," the prosecutor added.

The officer knocked on other doors to evacuate residents and returned to Wilkinson's flat to get a fire extinguisher.

"When he entered the lounge he was beaten back by a sudden burst of flames," the prosecutor told the court. "It took his breath away - he saw curtains and most of the rear lounge alight with flames."

The officer then left the flat for the fire brigade to deal with it.

Wilkinson was arrested outside the block. He told police someone had thrown a petrol bomb through a hole in his balcony window.

Jonathan Cooper, representing Wilkinson, said in mitigation the defendant had been diagnosed with alcohol dependency and suffered from hallucinations and paranoia as a result.

He said his client had suffered a history of victimisation and had been frightened by the group of men outside his flat.

Mr Cooper continued: "The fire was not set deliberately. He recognises he didn't take sufficient care of the lighted cigarette he was smoking."

COMMUNITY NEWS

Without them, we couldn't have done it

THE Chocolate Run charity has been providing a drop-in centre for the homeless in Harlow for 17 years, an achievement chairman Mick Granger says could not have happened without the help of the Great Parndon Community Association.

In those 17 years, during which a Christmas haven providing shelter and warmth for the homeless over the festive period has also been set up, the GPCA have provided a hub for the charity to do their work.

Mick said: "We are eternally grateful to GPCA and centre manager Cathy Kerrigan for allowing us to continue working here."

"The Chocolate Run and the Christmas shelter would not exist without their help. They provide us with somewhere to do our work and help the homeless; without them we couldn't have done it."

"They have been absolutely fantastic throughout all this time."

Cathy added: "We are a charity ourselves but we're glad to help the Chocolate Run and if we can help, then we feel we should."

THANK YOU: Mick Granger with community centre manager Cathy Kerrigan

"During Christmas, the playbarn - which is where the shelter is - is always reserved. It's all about helping the community and doing our bit."

Teachers tackle the Three Peaks for new charity

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TEAM OF 50 STAFF FROM Passmores Academy has completed a mammoth challenge to raise money for No Child Without, a new charity started by one of the Harlow school's teachers.

PE teacher Dave Archer launched the charity with the help of headteacher Vic Goddard.

Although still in its infancy, it provides financial assistance for schoolchildren who need help to pay for anything from school trips, school meals and uniforms to sports sponsorships.

Fundraising for the charity has been given a boost when 50 staff members took part in the Three Peaks Challenge last week.

The challenge saw the team climb Ben Nevis, Scafell Pike and Mount Snowdon - the three highest mountains in Scotland, England and Wales.

Dave said: "It was great and probably the hardest thing I have ever done, both physically and mentally, in my life.

"It was one of those things where the feat itself was amazing but doing it with such a good team just made it better.

"I decided on doing the Three Peaks more or less on the spur of the moment as I've always wanted to do it and it was something big for No Child Without."

"When I sent out emails about it the response was incredible. Staff were jumping on board and the whole experience - from organising it to actually climbing it - was a massive team effort."

Speaking of No Child Without, he added: "It's a very new charity but the hope is that it becomes a community-wide group that can support all schoolchildren across Harlow who need that extra help."

"We would love to get other schools involved and fundraising for us and then help pupils that need it in those schools."

Referees' Society hosts charity ball

HARLOW Referees' Society has raised £1,679 for St Clare Hospice at their charity dinner dance during which an auction, raffle and fun-money casino tables proved a huge success.

Items that went under the hammer included Steven Gerrard and Pele football shirts, a drive in a supercar, a wine tasting-experience and brunch with tigers. Harlow MP Robert Halfon also donated a bottle of House of Commons whisky signed by the Prime Minister.

An HRS spokesman said: "With 100 guests in awe of the resident West Ham magician Andy Jamieson, followed by roulette, Black Jack and dancing that went on late into the night, it was clear that everyone had a great time."

Store gets crafty for charity event

THE Hobbycraft store in Harlow got creative juices flowing at a recent two-day fundraiser for Haven House Children's Hospice.

The family event saw children join forces with their parents to take part in games, arts activities and cake-making.

Store staff also held arts and crafts demonstrations to raise as much money as possible for the store's chosen charity of the year.

Hobbycraft will now be hosting free daily family workshops to keep children entertained during the summer holidays with puppet-making, face-painting and decorating papier-mâché shapes and boxes.

Raising funds at Leisurezone

HARLOW Leisurezone will be hosting a charity-a-thon on Monday, August 26 to help boost funds for local groups.

Charities will be able to use the sports centre's facilities to organise their own mini challenges and raise money for their charity.

St Clare Hospice has already signed up for the event and are hoping more charities will jump on board.

Fundraising manager Anna Baldwin said: "The charity-a-thon is a fantastic opportunity for local organisations to raise money for their services. We are really excited to be involved and are looking forward to taking part and hope that other local groups will join us."

To find out more, or to register a charity, contact Deana at the Leisurezone on (01279) 621502.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, July 26 was ticketholder 409296, who lives in Harlow.

The £100 second prize was won by ticketholder 643216, who also lives in Harlow.

Charities the real winners at 5 Aid

A HUGE charity event at which teachers, celebrities and police joined forces to raise money for five different charities packed out Harlow Town Football Club's Barrows Farm stadium on Sunday.

More than 2,000 spectators turned out for Harlow 5 Aid, organised by Sergeant Tony Smith and PCSO Stuart Burt to raise money for Harlow Foodbank, the Shakoor Memorial Fund, the Cardiomyopathy Association, No Child Without and the Variety Club of Great Britain.

Among the celebs taking part in the five-a-side tournament on the club's new 3G pitch were TV presenter Jeff Brazier, TOWIE star Danny Osborne, reggae legend Maxi Priest and Sky Sports presenter Chloe Everton.

They lined up against Harlow Police FC and a team of teachers from schools across the town.

The day also featured an inter-schools tournament, where every child received a medal for taking part, live music from X Factor star Mickey Dumoulin and policemen Carl Owen and Mark Ling as well as performances from Makin' Steps, Madra Mor Boxing and Jazzerise.

Sixth legend and former England manager Glenn Hoddle also made a special appearance.

PCSO Burt, who played for the police team on the day, said: "I thought it was a fantastic day. We had some big celebrities turn up and it was the biggest charity event that Harlow Police Football Club has ever organised.

"A big thank you needs to go to Harlow Town Football Club, to Sergeant Tony Smith and Jill Dumoulin and to everyone who helped organise Harlow 5 Aid and make it the success it was.

He added: "We'll be counting up how much we've raised for our charities next week but we're confident we will have beaten our target. We had more than 2,000 people there at its peak."

"It was just a fantastic day, everyone seemed to enjoy themselves."

Graduation day for nursery youngsters

FIDGETY FINGERS The day nursery at Hastingwood held a graduation ceremony for children who are leaving to start school.

The tots, who are all four years old, will be starting reception classes in September but not before nursery staff celebrated their success at Fidgety Fingers.

Manager Jackie Neagle said: "We had 12 children graduate this year and they all made their own hats to wear at their graduation. It was an emotional day as most of them have been here for about two years."

Snap-happy students hold first exhibition

PASSMORES ACADEMY Students taking a one-year photography GCSE course displayed some of their best work in a public exhibition.

The young photographers started the course early in Year 9 instead of Year 10, with two Year 11s joining the group. They are the first to study photography at Passmores.

The exhibition saw the 23 students put forward pieces from their four completed projects.

Alice Freeman, an assistant in the GCSE class, said: "The photography exhibition was a complete success. The students, their tutor and I all worked together to put their displays together.

"I am so inspired by what the students have produced in their photography work from beginning to end. I will be watching out for some of their names in the near future." Carolyn Richards, head of graphics and photography at Passmores, added: "At the ages of just 14 and 16, 23 students have completed the GSCE producing a vast range of fantastic, creative photography with a lot of hard work involved.

"I am very proud of them."

School hosts garden party for retiring teacher

SAINT NICHOLAS A popular teacher who has worked at the Old Harlow school since the 1960s has retired... but not before staff and pupils held a tea party in her honour.

Margaret Jones, known as Maggie to her colleagues, joined Saint Nicholas School in 1969 as a music teacher and is ending her career as Head of Infants.

Some 200 people, including past and present students, attended her farewell tea party held in the school's grounds.

Miss Jones was recently honoured by having the school's new infants building named after her.

School spokeswoman Julie Bradley said: "The garden party was lovely and the weather was glorious.

"Lots of current and ex pupils and staff attended. I hadn't told Maggie who was coming and she was really pleased and touched to see so many people.

"She was understandably quite emotional but is looking forward to a new phase in her life. She will be missed greatly."

Hospital was so much friendlier than it is now

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE first ward sister to work at PAH has bought in some wonderful pictures from a time when she said the hospital was a "much friendlier place".

Brenda Jordan (72), who now lives in Sawbridgeworth bought in these photos.

"Back when I started, staff were like a family; everyone knew everybody else and it was friendly place to be and to work," she said.

"We went on days out, played sport together, held plays and did carol singing along the wards at Christmas.

"It was all much friendlier and more community-orientated than it is now. Now it seems hospitals are far more formal and closed off and that's a real shame. I have made life-long friendships with some of the people I worked with and I still keep in contact with some of the nurses I trained which is nice."

Nostalgia reader Jo Clarke (66), also got in touch to share her memories of the Harlow hospital.

She said: "I came to PAH in 1965 to train as a student nurse. We were the first intake of students and many years later I am still working at the hospital. I am now a senior sister on the neo-natal unit which only a short time ago opened its new unit - a second for me.

"The only sad part is that I am one year older than the NHS! Princess Alexandra is a fantastic place to work and I have enjoyed all my years there."

Did you work or were you a patient, at Princess Alexandra Hospital in the 1960s. If so, share your stories by sending in your memories and photos to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex CM20 1JW, call (01279) 400577 or email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Concert picture brings back memories

A PHOTOGRAPH of a packed Town Park in 1975 with crowds waiting for boy band Kenny sparked off memories for a few Nostalgia readers.

Kevin Jones said: "I remember the legendary, and some say, only truly original Harlow punk band the Sods entertaining the crowds in the Town Park in 1978.

"Topping the bill that day were big time Essex rockers Eddie and The Hot Rods, and completing the bill were Harlow's very own Pete the Meat and the Boys, whose guitarist was a young man called Richard Holgarth, better known these days for rescuing The Square from closure five years ago.

"Richard's job these days is playing guitar for guess who? Eddie and the Hot Rods! What goes around comes around."

Reader Susan Auzou also emailed in. She said: "Your photo brought back happy memories of being a teenager in the 1970s and several great summer evenings spent in the park.

"I remember bopping along to Sugar Baby Love with The Rubettes, Tiger Feet with Mud and just standing still when Eddie and the Hot Rods came along!"

Christmas comes early as hospice films its e-card

CHRISTMAS arrived five months early at St Clare Hospice when staff, volunteers and patients lent their support to the charity's festive video.

As the summer sun shone down, it was on with the furry Santa hats and novelty jumpers as filming got under way for the yuletide film.

Patients even tucked into a mini Christmas dinner with all the trimmings as crackers were pulled and paper hats worn to get everyone into the festive spirit.

The full video, which features nurses, cooks, fundraisers, gardeners, Santa Claus and the Hastingwood hospice's mascot Clare Bear, will now be made into a Christmas e-card which individuals and businesses can download for a donation to St Clare from November onwards.

Corporate fund-raiser Brooke Stacey, who directed the action with cameraman and editor Chris Buck from Harlow-based CB Sound Video Light, said next year's video would be done when temperatures were a little more seasonal.

"It's been hot but so much fun and everyone involved in the hospice has embraced their six seconds of fame as we shot each scene," she said.

"We can't wait to see the finished product and hope that people and businesses will choose to buy our festive message in lieu of – or as well as – Christmas cards this year."

ACTION: Father Christmas meets hospice mascot Clare Bear in the video for this year's e-card

Council sets up Olympics Legacy fund

HARLOW Council has launched an Olympic legacy fund to help charity groups discover the next generation of Games champions as the authority marks the first anniversary of London 2012.

A total of £30,000 has been allocated to the fund over a three year period.

Local community groups, charities and voluntary organisations can all apply for a grant of up to £1,000 from the council to encourage more people to get involved in sport.

The grants can be used to purchase equipment and essential materials, fund the direct delivery of a sport or cover any administrative costs related to promoting information about the sport.

Cllr Jean Clark, portfolio holder for community & social inclusion, said: "We have a rich sporting tradition in Harlow. Many people who were born in the town or who have grown up, lived or trained in the town have gone on to excel on the world stage including both Olympic and Paralympic athletes.

"We hope that these grants will enable organisations to develop their sporting activities and – who knows – even uncover our next crop of Olympic medallists."

The deadline for the next set of grants is Friday, August 23. For more information on the grants available and to apply, visit www.harlow.gov.uk/grants-olympic.

Woman who posed as a qualified vet's nurse is spared jail

A HARLOW woman who worked as a veterinary nurse for a year even though she was not qualified for the job has been told she could have been sent to jail.

Magistrates told Amy Victoria Wood (25), of Brook Lane Field, they had considered imposing a prison sentence.

But instead she was given a 12-month community order with 150 hours of unpaid work.

Wood admitted five offences of fraud by representation between January 4 and November 27 last year – four involving veterinary practices and one relating to a recruitment agency.

The court was told Wood earned nearly £3,000 working as a nurse in practices at Harlow, Hatfield, Hoddesdon, Harrogate and Hampstead.

At a hearing last month at which she pleaded guilty to the charges, the court was told Wood worked at the Kew Vet surgery in Harlow, the Royal Veterinary College in Hatfield, Walton Lodge in Hoddesdon and Village Vets in Hampstead. She had also applied to a recruitment agency in Harrogate and twice used the identity of a qualified veterinary nurse.

Barry Hargreaves, prosecuting, said

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Wood had been guilty of a "huge breach of trust".

"People trust vets to look after their animals," he said. "She did go on a veterinary nurse's course but failed the final exam."

Wood's legal representative, Christine Fernando, said in mitigation: "She qualified as an NVQ level 2 around 2009, failed her level 3 and went to Australia where she was employed as a veterinary nurse."

"She had a relationship and a child but returned to the UK due to domestic issues and had to find work to support her daughter."

"She lives at home with parents and two-year-old daughter and has had difficult circumstances over the last few years. She returned from Australia in November after an abusive relationship and giving birth to her daughter. She suffered great depression after the birth and was under great financial pressure."

"At the time of the offences she wasn't thinking straight. She felt she was qualified to undertake work although she wasn't qualified."

Ms Fernando said her client knew her behaviour was completely unacceptable but was thinking about supporting her daughter and was under a lot of pressure and mental stress having relationship broken down.

"Since June 25 she has been employed at an animal home in north west London as a student vet nurse on six month's probation," said Ms Fernando. "She has been told they will take her on as deputy head vet nurse. She will be completing her qualifications."

Passing sentence on Tuesday, the chairman of the bench told Wood: "We have considered sending you to prison today. I cannot stress enough that you committed a fraud on five separate occasions over a year. In addition to that you used somebody else's identity and printed false documents."

"The reason we are not sending you into custody is that the net value of the fraud is low, there's no indication that you have done any personal or animal harm and obviously you love animals and wish to continue working as a vet nurse. You pleaded guilty and you have co-operated with police."

In addition to the community order she was also ordered to pay £60 victim surcharge and £85 costs.

MY VIEW FROM WESTMINSTER

By Robert Halfon
MP for Harlow

UK's rip-off fuel prices are morally wrong ...

Despite the Government fuel duty cut in 2011 and a three-year freeze - for which I have long fought hard - prices at the petrol pump continue to rise. We have to ask why the oil companies are ripping off the motorist, even when international oil prices fall?

Following the EU investigation into oil companies over allegations of price manipulation, I and FairFuel UK presented a petition signed by 30,000 people to the Office of Fair Trading, calling for an investigation into British oil companies. We need to do all we can to put pressure on oil companies to keep prices down.

It is morally wrong that Harlow motorists spends around one-tenth of their income on fuel. I will continue to champion lower fuel prices in Parliament.

... and we need to get tough on water firms

Water bills also add to the strain of hard working families. Over the past five years the average water bill in Harlow and across Essex has gone up far too much while leakages remain high.

Meanwhile, water company bosses are not afraid to give themselves generous salaries, with some significant rises in areas across Essex.

For this reason I have produced a report on what the water companies have been doing across the East of England. I will be presenting the findings to the Government and I am fighting in the House of Commons for lower prices.

It is good that the Conservative-led coalition is bringing in new laws to solve some of these problems, but we also need the regulator OFWAT to be tougher on water companies to make sure consumers get a fair deal.

We should ensure that water firms always give customers the best possible value for money. You can read my Water Rip-off Report at www.roberthalfonblog.com/2013/07/25/read-the-great-eastern-region-water-rip-off/.

Crackdown continues on illegal immigration

Whenever I am out and about knocking on doors, many residents express concern about the pressure put on our public services by uncontrolled immigration.

The Government has cut immigration by one third. Many 'fake' foreign language student schools have been closed, border control is being reformed and action is also being taken to limit people coming to the UK getting welfare benefits and NHS assistance without having contributed something to the country first.

Here in Harlow there are new measures to ensure that no-one has access to social housing unless they have at least a five-year association with our town. This is only fair and should help ensure there are Harlow homes for Harlow people.

Breakthrough in search for allergy cure

BRITISH scientists have discovered how cats trigger allergic reactions in people - which means a cure could soon be found.

Researchers from the University of Cambridge have studied dead particles found in cat skin - the most common cause of cat allergies - and found a protein that interacts with a chemical in the human body causing people to itch, sneeze and cough.

The only treatment currently available for those who suffer with cat allergies is to have a number of injections to build up a defence against the allergy.

But the new discovery could be used to create a pill or inhalers that block the allergic reaction, meaning anyone could have a feline friend as a pet.

Charity Allergy UK has declared the discovery to be a "big step forward" in finding the cure against cat allergies.

Harlow rapper set to appear at Brownstock

A HARLOW-born rapper is set to appear alongside the likes of The Fratellis, Mark Ronson and The Pigeon Detectives at this year's Brownstock festival.

The three-day event, run by the Brown family, takes place across four stages at Morris Farm, near Chelmsford, from August 30 to September 1.

Glenn Godfrey, formerly of Potter Street and now living in Takeley, was added to the bill after beating around 1,000 other unsigned hopefuls from across the UK in open auditions.

He made it to the shortlist of 100 before festival organisers, along with The Fratellis and The Pigeon Detectives, picked him as one of 13 acts who will appear on the Saturday.

Glenn told the Star: "I got so excited when I found out they'd picked me - I'm still buzzing now!"

Budding ballerina on point to fulfil dreams

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG ballerina from Harlow is hoping to spread her wings after landing her dream role in an electrifying new production of Swan Lake.

Laura Cook (12), of Chelsea Gardens, Church Langley, beat off competition from more than 200 young hopefuls to secure her place among the professional cast of English Youth Ballet's forthcoming adaptation of the Tchaikovsky-penned classic.

The Burnt Mill Academy pupil is now spending her school holidays rehearsing for her biggest performance to date as she prepares to take to the stage at the Canterbury Marlowe Theatre in late August.

Mum Julia Bull told the Star she was immensely proud of her daughter.

"Laura has worked incredibly hard for this, so it's fantastic that she's been given this opportunity," she said.

"I have never seen a 12-year-old so committed to fulfilling her dreams - she is determined to make an impression in what will be the biggest production she has ever worked on."

First taking up ballet at the age of just three, Laura has shown a natural flair and now trains four nights a week at the Graham School of Dancing in Bishop's Stortford.

She has also trained and performed with the National Youth Ballet and Royal Academy of Ballet, and even gives beginners' classes to younger members of her dance school.

"She is very driven. Even now in the school holidays when her friends are asking her to hang out with them all day she always makes sure she gets her ballet practice in," Julia added.

"I'm immensely proud of her and she can't wait to show what she can do on stage later this month."

Laura will dance alongside EYB's accomplished international principal artists in the professional production, and will gain invaluable insight into the life of a professional ballet dancer.

She has already begun a 10-day intensive rehearsal process at the EYB's Canterbury Academy, which involves a complex timetable of different rehearsals running simultaneously across three studios.

EYB principal ballerina Julianne Rice Oxley said she had been "hugely impressed" with the standard of the young dancers in the cast.

"The young dancers have great energy and attack," she said. "Working in a professional environment gives the students a unique insight into life in a ballet company."

"Laura is so lucky - I wish there had been something like EYB when I was training!"

>>EYB's production of Swan Lake opens at the Canterbury Marlowe Theatre on August 23. For more details, log on to the website at www.marlowetheatre.com.

Open-air cinema returns after rain stops play

AN open-air screening of smash hit film musical Mamma Mia! in Harlow Town Park has been rescheduled after rain forced organisers to postpone the free event.

Film fans can now get their fix of Amanda Seyfried, pictured right, Meryl Streep, Pierce Brosnan and co next Saturday (August 10) - weather permitting!

The film was originally due to be screened last Saturday but torrential downpours meant event organisers The Great Parndon Community Association had to cancel at the last minute.

David Shimman

from the GPCA told the Star: "It was a real shame to have to postpone last week's screening, but we couldn't risk it with the weather being so unpredictable."

"We were amazed at how many people still came down to the park on the off chance it was still going to be shown, so at least we now know it's going to be a popular event."

"Hopefully we'll have more luck with the weather next week!"

Next Saturday's free screening will be the first in a series of open-air events coming to the park over the summer holidays.

GPCA also plan to screen classic film musical Grease in early September, and the organisation is also involved with the running of two-day music festival Linkfest In The Park over the August Bank Holiday Weekend.

"If the screenings are a success we'll do it again next year - and maybe even run a drive-in cinema in the winter," David added.

"The town park is a fantastic space and we want to make the most of it by putting on as many exciting events as we can for residents."

>>Next Saturday's screening of Mamma Mia! will begin at 9.30pm at the Bandstand. Audience members can bring their own food and drink and are advised to bring warm clothing.

Take your pick of summer fruits

IT'S NOT only the humble potato or common carrot which can thrive on allotments – you can also grow a cornucopia of delicious soft fruits like summer berries and blackcurrants.

What's more, fruit bushes and trees are long-lived. Gooseberries and blackcurrants can do well for 20 years, trees can produce for decades and raspberry canes can last more than 10 years.

"Plot-holders are better off looking at soft fruit because it takes up less space than fruit trees and is easier to manage and pick," says Mike Thurlow, horticultural adviser to the National Allotment Society, which is running this year's National Allotments Week campaign with Kelly's of Cornwall.

"The root run of soft fruit isn't so expansive so it doesn't interfere with other crops or with neighbours' plots."

Summer fruits are generally easier to care for than larger fruit trees. Many currants can be grown as bushes, while raspberries and blackberries need to be trained against a framework structure, usually a post and wire system.

"Soft fruit can't be shoved away in a cold corner," Thurlow explains. "Full sun is needed to ripen the wood rather than the fruit because it is ripe wood which gives you the bountiful harvest the following year."

If you are growing bushes or training trees, plan them as part of the structure of your allotment, as they are likely to be permanent fixtures. Most fruit trees are pollinated by insects so you'll need to avoid windy sites, and add plenty of organic matter to the soil, which needs to be well-drained.

Strawberries, one of the nation's favourite summer fruits, should be placed in the sunniest border and should be moved around on a three-year cycle.

Few allotments allow trees to be grown because they shade other plots and sometimes can't be moved when a new tenant arrives. So if you want to grow fruit trees, you may have to buy dwarf rootstocks to train, creating espaliers, cordons or fans.

Redcurrants, white currants and gooseberries can be fan-trained and turned into espaliers and cordons. It's a bit of fun. You could train them up the side of a shed or make a support from stakes and training wires," Thurlow says.

Be warned that blackcurrants are big plants which will need plenty of room, each taking up around 1.5 square metres of ground so don't plant them too close together.

"You'll often have fewer berries from two struggling plants than from one good one," Thurlow points out.

Unless you live in a really mild area and your plot is sheltered, avoid trying to grow tender fruits such as figs, apricots and peaches on your Avoid planting soft fruit where it has been grown before as it can lead to replant disease, resulting in stunted growth. Buy stock which has been certified free of pests and disease to avoid the fatal viral disease.

As for placing your plants, Thurlow advises to keep all your fruit bushes together as a group in a south or west-facing spot where they will receive the maximum sun.

Growing fruit on your allotment may take a little patience as many types will not bear fruit the same year they are planted (summer raspberries, blackberries and gooseberries will fruit in the second year and redcurrants in the third), but once they are established, they will not let you down.

Better Red than dead

certificate 12A, 1h56m

YOU can teach old dogs new tricks or so it would seem in Red 2, the action-packed sequel to the 2010 comedy about a team of retired assassins who merrily kick butt and run rings around highly trained agents 30 years their junior.

Dean Parisot's testosterone-fuelled caper is a hugely entertaining and polished piece of nonsense which ramps up the action sequences as the lean and preposterous plot ricochets between Paris, London and Moscow at dizzying speed.

The dream team of Bruce Willis, John Malkovich and Helen Mirren lock and load once again with giddy abandon, this time welcoming celebrated Korean actor Lee Byung-hun whose martial arts skills allow for some terrific sequences of hand-to-hand combat in bone-crunching close-up.

Red 2 opens at a wholesale grocery store where retired CIA operative Frank Moses (Willis) is enjoying domestic life with girlfriend Sarah (Mary-Louise Parker), who craves excitement in their relationship. So she is delighted when Frank's sartorially challenged former associate Marvin Boggs (Malkovich) pops up unexpectedly in the adjacent aisle.

Marvin's re-appearance coincides with a dastardly plot involving US government agent Jack Horton (Neal McDonough), Russian secret agent Katja (Catherine Zeta-Jones) and an enigmatic figure known as The Frog (David Thewlis).

Frank, Marvin and Sarah go on the run for their lives with Chinese contract killer Han Jo-bae (Byung-hun) in hot pursuit. Stylish assassin Victoria (Mirren) telephones Frank to let him know that British intelligence have also hired her to put a bullet through his head.

Surrounded by people they can't trust, Frank, Sarah and Marvin embark on a madcap globetrotting mission in search of answers, which leads them to a covert exercise codenamed Operation Nightshade and its doddery creator (Anthony Hopkins).

Based on the DC Comics series of the same name, Red 2 delivers as many thrills and spills as its predecessor with tongue wedged firmly in cheek. The leads destroy swathes of each European capital as they search for answers, armed with an arsenal of droll one-liners.

Malkovich continues to scene-steal with his eyecatching outfits although Zeta-Jones's introduction as a vampy old flame fails to kindle sufficient sparks in limited screen time.

Screenwriter Jon and Erich Hoeber, who penned the original, mix comedy and explosions with a dash of romance, garnished with Hopkins reliving his Hannibal Lecter glory days as a mentally unstable scientist with a dark secret.

The incendiary cocktail goes down a treat, delivering big laughs without needing to engage your brain too much to keep track of the usual array of crosses, double-crosses and sly twists.

certificate 15, 1h52m

JAMES Wan, director of the first instalment of the Saw franchise and Insidious, remains firmly rooted in the horror genre with this dramatisation of chilling events which took place in 1971 in Rhode Island.

Roger Perron (Ron Livingston) and his wife Carolyn (Lili Taylor) move into a rundown farmhouse in Harrisville with their five children.

The family dog refuses to enter the property and Carolyn wakes one morning to discover mysterious bruising on her body.

The Perrons then experience increasingly violent supernatural episodes and in desperation seek help from paranormal investigators Ed and Lorraine Warren (Patrick Wilson, Vera Farmiga), who purport to be in touch with the spirit world.

Lorraine senses a malevolent force in the house and recommends an exorcism, which would require the full backing of the Catholic church.

In the meantime, the Warrens research the history of the farmhouse and unearth evidence that it was once owned by a woman called Bathsheba, who was accused of witchcraft.

NORFOLK'S most famous knitwear-clad DJ abandons his beloved radio studio for the big screen in this comic caper directed by Declan Lowry.

Alan (Steve Coogan) and his trusty sidekick Simon (Tim Key) host the Mid Morning Matters show at the North Norfolk Digital radio station.

Vicious rumours circulate that management are planning to fresh up the station by axing some of the older DJs and changing the name of the station to Shape.

Late night presenter Pat Farrell (Colm Meaney) fears he will be one for the chop so he asks Alan to speak to management and avert a cull. Unfortunately, Alan only makes the situation worse so Pat is forced to take his colleagues hostage, armed with a shotgun.

By chance, Alan is outside the building when the siege begins so police recruit him as a hostage negotiator to talk to Pat and resolve the stand-off.

Alan relishes his moment in the media spotlight, becoming known as the "face of the siege" as he attempts to save frayed nerves and raise the spirits of his long-suffering personal assistant Lynn (Felicity Montagu) and plucky security guard Michael (Simon Greenall).

Two gargantuan bronze bulls attack the camp and, soon after, Percy and the other demi-gods discover that someone has poisoned the tree, leaving them open to attack from dark forces.

The only artefact which can restore the tree is the

Four-bedroom cottage is the perfect family home

coverproperty

Location Gilston near Harlow
Category Converted cottage
Additional Originally two farm workers cottages dating back to 1880, this four-bed house is packed full of original features
Guide price £455,000
Agent Mackay Property Agents, The Old Barn, 2A The Square, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600567

ORIGINALLY two farmworkers cottages, Horsegrove Cottage on the northern edge of Gilston was extended and converted to create a substantial home in the 1960s.

Dating back to around 1880, the property has kept many of its original character features including exposed beams and an open fire with a slate hearth and brick surround in the sitting room.

Together with the more recent additions of large floor-to-ceiling windows, it is a delightful combination of old and new.

The layout of the property is ideal for family living. The kitchen runs across the back of the house with easy access to the dining room and breakfast room and is fitted with a range of base and eye level stained maple units with granite work surfaces. There is an integrated double oven, double sink with waste disposal, a dishwasher and Neff hob with extractor over. The design includes plenty of storage with a pull-out larder, a water softener and space for a fridge/freezer.

There are four reception rooms on the ground floor and four good size bedrooms on the first floor.

The master bedroom has a luxury en-suite shower room, a slate-tiled and underfloor heating. There are twin wash hand basins with a Corian surround and a walk-in wardrobe cupboard as well as a fitted dressing area.

The other three further bedrooms all have fitted wardrobes and share the family bathroom, which also has underfloor heating.

To the front of the property there is a large driveway with garden area. The driveway leads to a single garage which has power and light.

The rear garden features a large patio which leads on to a lawned area.

For full details, call Mackay Property Agents on (01279) 600567.

what's hot on the market

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WHEN property details make their way to my desk here at Homes Now, they always include the home's Energy Performance Certificate.

This is a good measure against other properties' energy efficiency and give you a chance to see how savings could be made. But does making your house more energy efficient increase its value?

According to a survey from the Department of Energy & Climate Change the answer is a resounding 'yes'. Their statistics show it may boost prices by up to 14 per cent on an average home but could be as much as 38 per cent in some areas of the country.

The reason behind this is simple - it's the result of the rising cost of gas and electricity. A typical household's annual energy bill was £522 in 2004. Now it's £1,353 (Uswitch) and it looks set to keep on rising. It has become such a significant cost that a staggering 69 per cent of us went without heating at some point this past winter in order to keep our bills down.

Most of the UK's housing stock is old, draughty and highly energy inefficient. EPC ratings range from band A-G, with band A being the most energy efficient, with the majority of houses in band D (46 per cent).

Investment in measures to make our homes more comfortable and cheaper to run could certainly pay in the long run but do potential buyers really bother to look at a property's EPC? The survey involved data from over 300,000 homes and showed that for an average priced house, if you improved its EPC from D to B or from band G to E you could add more than £16,000 to its sale price.

Maybe insulating your loft, changing the light bulbs or installing that new boiler is worth thinking about after all.

On the market for £319,995

BUILT by Redrow Homes in the late 1990s, this attractive detached home is located within the catchment area of Henry Moore Primary School at Elwood in Church Langley.

The family home has two generous reception rooms and four bedrooms with an en-suite and fitted wardrobes to the master bedroom.

The rear garden is west-facing and there is also a garage and driveway.

If you think this could be your next family home, call the Howick and Brooker Partnership for full details on (01279) 418888.

Rare chance to buy for £475,000

AT Cambridge Road in Sawbridgeworth, this is a rare opportunity to buy a 1930s detached family home which is within walking distance of the Leventhorpe School.

The house has three reception rooms, a downstairs cloakroom and four bedrooms.

The rear garden features a patio area with the majority laid to lawn as well as mature shrubs and trees. To the front there is off-road parking for a number of vehicles as well as a single garage.

Call Charles David Casson on (01279) 600722 for full details.

Newhall style for £369,995

THIS fabulous detached house at Newhall in Harlow comes with a wealth of modern features.

There are four bedrooms, a large kitchen/breakfast room and separate dining room. Also on the ground floor is a cloakroom.

The master bedroom has an en-suite shower room with 'his and hers' wash basins.

The garden is mainly laid to lawn with plant and shrub borders, raised beds, a shed, patio, tap and lights. There is also a garage with up-and-over door, power and lighting.

Call Kings Group on (01279) 433033 to book your viewing appointment.

Available to rent for £1,150 pcm

AT Belfield Gardens in Church Langley, this semi-detached house has recently come on to the market for rent.

There are three good size bedrooms, a modern fitted kitchen with appliances, bathroom with corner bath, large conservatory and low maintenance back garden. The property is also alarmed and has central heating and double glazing.

Call Guardian on (01279) 635685 for full property details or to arrange your viewing appointment.

The Meaning of Service

Most estate agents see their role solely as a purveyor of buyers, and they understandably pride themselves on their ability to find the right buyer for a property and to negotiate attractive terms for the seller.

But estate agency has moved on. Indeed, finding a buyer is arguably one of the most straightforward aspects of selling a property. Wise sellers now seek other attributes in their estate agent.

We all know how emotionally traumatic a house move can be. Yet many agents fail to recognise their ability to reduce this overall burden by becoming thoroughly involved not only in the actual sale of an individual property, but also in the move as a whole. We feel this provides a great opportunity for the service-focused agent to deliver a level of customer service that really makes a difference. A service based on empathy. In other words, seeing the world through the eyes of the buyer/seller. With this vision, agents can then anticipate and proactively respond to the very real needs of the house-moving public.

An example of an obvious contribution that agents can make is a hands-on approach to any related property transactions, rather than blaming solicitors for any delay. A chain is only as strong as the weakest link, yet many agents sit back and wait once a sale is agreed. Madness!

So if you are to make your move enjoyable rather than simply endured, choose an agent who believes passionately in supportive customer service. Choose Geoffrey Matthew Estates.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.

- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.

- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.

- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.

- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

BY MATT JOY

You can have it all these days. When the boundaries between one car and another were once as sharply defined as the creases in your dad's trousers, the options were very simple; small hatchback, medium and large saloons and big estates. And funny enough that was enough for everyone.

But now, it's a very different story. If you just choose a regular hatch then you'll be seen as some kind of dullard at the next dinner party. What you need is a crossover and Peugeot's 2008 Feline is the latest to join the throng, as it replaces the 207 SW - which was essentially a small estate and nothing more - and shows how the crossover is taking over the world.

The 2008 mixes various elements of exterior design from other Peugeots and a variety of sectors. Though clearly based on the 208 hatchback, the 2008 has much more in the way of presence, largely thanks to the increased dimensions; it's 20cm longer and 9.6cm taller than a 208 hatch as well as the five door layout.

There's more to it than that however, with the 2008 also providing

Fact File

Peugeot 2008 1.6 e-HDi Feline

from £17,695
on the road

ENGINE: 1.6-litre diesel unit producing 115bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed manual driving the front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 117mph, 0-62mph in 10.4 s
ECONOMY: 70.6mpg combined
CO<sub>2</sub> RATING: 105g/km of CO<sub>2</sub>

a slice of 'soft-roader' style. The sills and the bottom edges of the bumpers are finished matt black, the alloy wheels are finished matt silver and, of course, there is the obligatory raised ride height - 25mm higher here. It's a successful strategy too, because although the 2008 is clearly a relatively small car, it carries itself with more authority than its hatchback sibling.

There's no four-wheel drive system churning away beneath the 2008's chunky exterior, but it can lay claim to at least a modest off-road capability. 2008s are offered with Grip Control, the electronic system that first appeared on the 3008 and gives a number of traction modes to deal with varying conditions. Standard on Allure and Feline models, Grip Control also works hand-in-hand with mud and snow tyres to offer a traction advantage on mud, snow, sand or a mix of surfaces.

But there's nothing to intimidate once you climb aboard the 2008. The cabin that greets you is largely carried over from the 208 hatchback, although there are trim packs that give a bit of extra sparkle including LED strip lighting, smarter seat fabrics and a panoramic glass roof. The 2008 also inherits the 208's unusual steering wheel to instrument panel relationship - you view the dials over the top of the smaller than usual wheel rather than through it, but a bit of time behind the wheel quickly gets you used to the idea.

Under the bonnet there's a choice of five engines but, unsurprisingly in a car like this with a practical bent, it is the diesels that offer the best compromise. The 1.6-litre e-HDi unit comes in two outputs - 92bhp and 115bhp - but the higher of the two only costs a little more money rather than a major penalty in economy. Petrol fans will want to hang on for the turbocharged three-cylinder 1.2-litre unit that is still to come.

With the diesel you get exactly what you want; a nice slug of torque from low engine revs and getting up to speed requires a brief squeeze of the accelerator rather than waiting for the upper reaches of the engine's rev range. The six-speed gearbox fitted as standard to the diesel has a sweeter action than the five-speed too, and the extra ratio makes life that bit more relaxing. You and your passengers will be happy with the way the 2008 rides too. The increased height of the suspension doesn't do any harm at all, allowing it to better soak up poor road surfaces but without turning it into a roly-poly come the first bend.

Perhaps most importantly of all, the 2008 offers a useful increase in space over the regular hatch. There's 360 litres with the seats up and 1,194 with them folded, including a useful 22 litres under the floor. It's also a cinch to fold the rear seats, with only a pressed button and a gentle push required.

The outgoing 207SW was a popular car, and the 2008 takes the basic template then adds more personality and style to it, as well as giving extra utility and the

Town slip to heavy loss

Old Brentwoods 258-9
Harlow Town 94

Harlow Tn lost by 164 runs (Shepherd Neame Essex League, division three)

HARLOW Town captain Ashley Alderson was left embarrassed by his side's woeful batting after they slipped to a heavy defeat at Old Brentwoods.

Relying to Brentwoods' score of 258-9, Town simply collapsed.

Only Shiraz Ali could be exonerated from any criticism for a shocking batting display by the visitors in Saturday's clash.

Ali made a good 37 with extras being the second top scorer on 12.

No other batsmen made it into double figures for Town and they were bowled out with 17 overs to spare for a pitiful 94.

Abdul Gafangaf was the pick of the home bowlers taking 4-15 from 9.4 overs.

Home captain Shahid Iqbal claimed 3-6 from four overs.

Alderson said: "It was an embarrassing display from us with the bat."

"After going three games unbeaten we felt confident coming into this match."

He added: "Unfortunately our batting has let us down all season."

Earlier, Brentwoods won the toss and decided to have a bat.

They got off to a great start, with 50 runs coming from the first seven overs.

The spinners were introduced and Town eventually got the breakthrough when Ramya Upadhyay dismissed Osman Chaudry for 27.

All of Brentwoods' top five contributed with scores of over 20.

The significant innings came from Abdul Rehman (66) and Khalid Sarwar (73).

Sarwar's knock included some big sixes.

The spinners were the best bowlers for Town.

Ramya Upadhyay took 3-78 from 18 overs and Shaun Alderson returned figures of 5-35 from seven overs.

Two sides are set to be promoted from the 10-team division.

With a third of the season left, Town are in fourth spot and 21 points behind the second-placed team Old Parkonians.

Alderson said: "We will need to pick ourselves up and find another good run of form."

Meanwhile Harlow Town II kept their promotion bid on track when they beat Old Brentwoods II by five wickets at home in division three of the second XI league.

Town lie 13 points behind second-placed Belhus.

Town lost the toss and Brentwoods batted first. T

Brentwoods started slowly with both openers being dropped early on.

Mohammed Ali and Conor Fussell bowled well and kept the score in check with some tight lines, both picking up a wicket each.

It was the slow bowlers who really did the damage.

Graeme Eversden (5-32) and Simon Rowell (3-45) bowled a total of 34 overs which the visitors could not handle.

Town bowled 48 overs in just over two hours and 20 minutes which enabled the batsmen to have a full two hours plus 20 overs to chase the score of 125.

Town then got off to their now customary poor start and within the first eight overs they were wobbling on 40-4.

Ben Eversden and Mark Lyons then set about rebuilding the innings and pushed Town to 89 before the latter fell for a good 23.

Johan Cloete then came in to blast a quick 17 to finish the game but the hero of the innings was Eversden whose 42 not out guided the hosts to victory.

TOB DEBUT: Naomi Harryman got a bronze and set a PB on her senior county debut

Naomi enjoys Essex debut

NAOMI Harryman had four good reasons to celebrate after she made her senior Essex debut.

The 15-year-old St Marks pupil came third in the triple jump.

She also gained a personal best (PB) of 10.94m when she competed for the county in the South of England Senior Inter Counties Championship.

The event was held at Abingdon in Oxfordshire.

This is also now a senior club record for Harlow AC, a big achievement as she is very young.

Her performance also helped the county maintain their dominance and retain the overall trophy for the sixth year in a row.

An extremely able athlete, she earned her first senior call up after a succession of fine performances this season.

Coach John Stow said: "Naomi seemed very calm and relaxed before her competition.

"She deserved this opportunity following some excellent performances recently for this event."

He added: "This was after she had already won both Essex Schools and East of England Championships.

"Under the coaching of Ken Day [an extremely experienced coach], Naomi definitely has a fine future to look forward to."

Twins thrive for Harlow AC at Ware

BY DAVID RIMMER

david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE numbers were smaller than normal but good performances came from Harlow Athletic Club athletes in an Eastern Young Athletes meeting at Ware.

Due to a women's league match the day before there were only two U-13 girls. Lauren Barker threw 6.72m in the shot and ran 2:56.8 in the 800m. Zoe Rutter ran 6:05.4 in the 1500m. In the U-13 boys, Danny Sanderson ran a PB of 15.6s in the 75m hurdles (4th A string). Ed Broad won the javelin (31.33m).

Mohamed Tambedou, Ashley Rich, Kai Campbell and Corey Harrison clocked 49.4s in the 4x100m.

● HARLOW AC women's team could not supplant the 55-point advantage Haywards Heath had over them.

Heath extended it by a further 8.5 points in the Southern Women's League division one match at Crawley in Sussex.

It started with Harlow's Eryn Madson coming first in the A string 300m hurdles with a personal best (PB) of 51.6secs. Simultaneously, Steph Fuller was first in the A hammer (35.10m).

Nicole Chambers (U-15, 4.24m) and Naomi Harryman (senior women, 5.35m) picked up a long jump win double.

Rosa Huntington threw a PB in

the javelin (9.88m, 3rd in B), placing her fourth in the country in the disability rankings. The Owen family must be praised including mum, Bridget, who made her debut in the 3000m and was second in the B string 16:00.7.

Team manager Steve Lott said: "It doesn't matter that we didn't win the title. The women have shown that after some years in the athletic wilderness they can again be a force."

Harlow youngsters set new batting records

TWO records are believed to have been set for youngest players scoring a century within the adult and youth categories at Harlow Cricket Club.

Alan Jones is probably now the youngest centurion in adult cricket in Harlow's history.

This was after he scored 101 not out against Harlow Town in division two of the Shepherd Neame Essex League 4th XI League. It ended in a draw.

Harlow scored 229-3 and Town replied with 103-6.

On Sunday Nathan Khelawon, (10), became what is believed to be Harlow's youngest centurion ever.

He smashed 127 not out in an U-13 Peter Coe Cup clash against Newham with Harlow winning by seven wickets chasing 192 inside 30 overs.

Harlow first team captain Luke Heskett said: "I would like to congratulate the boys on their centuries at such a young age. They have a big future."

Meanwhile, Harlow first team (188) were beaten at home by seven wickets by Hainault and Clayhall side (192-3) in division one of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Harlow collapsed to 40-5 before Ahmed Khawaja made 72 and Sulieman Qadir leading the visitors to a comfortable victory against the bottom team. Heskett added: "We need to improve our batting to stand a chance. The fight back this week was very spirited and shows we do have the quality and the spirit to escape the drop."

troubled with Ettinder Bopara (brother of Ravi) making 62 and Sulieman Qadir leading the visitors to a comfortable victory against the bottom team. Heskett added: "We need to improve our batting to stand a chance. The fight back this week was very spirited and shows we do have the quality and the spirit to escape the drop."

Chiassaro: 'I want to race Weirwolf'

HARLOW'S Richard Chiassaro is eyeing up a clash with David Weir at next year's Commonwealth Games in Glasgow despite a disappointing showing at the Sainsbury's International Para Challenge.

The 31-year-old clocked 27.04 seconds to finish sixth in the T54 200m at the Olympic Stadium as Kenny van Weeghel of the Netherlands set a stadium record of 24.61.

Chiassaro, who controversially missed out on last year's Paralympics, set himself a world ranking target after the race, as he seeks to return to the upper echelons of the sport.

And he admitted that, after trying his hand at the 800m and 1500m metres recently, the prospect of going up against a Paralympic hero and six-time champion in Weir – nicknamed the Weirwolf – is an enticing one.

"I'm going to race in the same race as David Weir," he said.

"I know he'll beat me, but I want to be in the same race as him – I want to experience what he experienced at the Paralympics."

"I moved up to 800m and pushed

TAKING IN THE ATMOSPHERE: Richard Chiassaro at the Sainsbury's International Para Challenge to 1:45 and a load of coaches came up to me and said 'try for the Commonwealths'.

"By that point I want to be in the top five in the world. I'm 11th now – for a while I was five and then slowly climbed down.

"To be fair, I haven't been abroad to race yet and the weather conditions in the UK haven't been great.

"I've got a couple more races – Stoke Mandeville, Bedford and Coventry – and then I'm going to train hard over the winter."

The big occasion got the better of the Harlow AC member as he raced in front of a capacity 60,000 crowd at the Olympic Stadium, who cheered on GB's best.

"The atmosphere was amazing," he added. "I wanted to experience it at the Paralympics and now I've experienced it here."

"I was massively disappointed to be left out last year. Based on their times I could have got fourth in the final. I just wanted the opportunity."

"I'm not happy with my time in the 200m but I made a mistake – I lifted my back wheel at the start and it caused me to wheelspin."

"The guys I'm up against are the best – once you make a mistake, they're gone."

"My recovery from then wasn't too bad. I wanted a personal best but never mind."

Harlow golfer in the Women's British Open

GABRIELLA Cowley was thrilled after she qualified for the Ricoh Women's British Open, which starts today (Thursday).

The 17-year-old from Threshers Bush in Harlow will be playing over the Old Course at St Andrews.

This was after she shot a four-under 68 in the final qualifying stages on Monday.

Speaking yesterday, she said: "I just cannot wait to play and I am really looking forward to it.

"I will be up against the top pros and I will be trying to make the cut."

She added: "I am hitting the ball well and it will be a good test."

"I have played it before and the course is really tough if the wind gets up."

Gabriella's caddy is her father Carl who was no mean golfer himself.

She said: "He used to play off scratch."

Gabriella, who is attached to Brocket Hall Golf Club, was one of only two amateurs to make it through the final stage at Kingsbarns Golf Links.

An English international, Cowley has qualified alongside Curtis Cup player Amy Boulden from Wales.

Meanwhile England's Emily Taylor – a rookie professional on the Ladies European Tour – also qualified with a sparkling 66. That put her in second place.

Sixteen players qualified for the championship from a field of 90. Gabriella will join two other England amateurs. British champion Georgia Hall (Remedy Oak) and British stroke play champion Sarah-Jane Boyd (Truro) were both exempt from qualifying.

CONTROL: Harlow midfielder Shaun Glidden shields the ball from a Potters Bar opponent on Tuesday

Pic: Amelia Bullett

Hawks can cover injury to their key midfielder

KEY player Danny Brown could be ruled out with a dislocated shoulder for the first six weeks of Harlow Town's Ryman League, division one north campaign.

The 32-year-old former Barnet player sustained the injury in a behind closed doors friendly against FFC Haringey on Saturday. It follows knee and calf injuries he sustained last season when he was a defender.

Chapman, who plans to use him back in central midfield, said: "It would have been an even bigger blow last season."

"I feel we do have the players to cope this season."

After making five new signings Chapman has around 23 players and may release five.

The new additions are left-back

Lewis Lavers, keeper James May and midfielder Michael Aawaone plus a return for striker Leon Antoine and midfielder Scott Curley.

Meanwhile, Harlow Town marked the first game on their new 3G pitch with a 1-0 home victory over Potters Bar Town in a friendly on Tuesday.

Harlow's goal came in the fourth minute when Alex Read converted a cross from the left by Shane Stamp.

On 39 minutes Stamp rounded a defender and keeper, but then shot wide of an open goal.

Hawks substitute right-back Ben Hart conceded a penalty on the hour mark, but the spot kick was fired over the bar.

Chapman said: "We played really well in the first half. The pitch played well and we could have been 3-0 up at half-time."
